

Feel THE HEAT! AT

IAFF'S FIRE OPS 101

Put Decision Makers In the Line of Fire

All IAFF local affiliates are urged to invite politicians, medical directors, members of the media and other decision makers to attend Fire Ops 101 at the upcoming John P. Redmond Symposium.

Special one-day workshop focuses on:

- Directly communicating the need for adequate staffing and the critical role time plays on the scene of any emergency
- Skills required and risks inherent to professional fire fighting and emergency medical response
- Basic fire ground operations for non-fire fighters

WHERE: Honolulu Fire Department
Charles H. Thurston
Training Center
890 Valkenburgh Street
Honolulu, Hawaii 96818

WHEN: Saturday, Oct. 22, 2005
from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

EVENT SCHEDULE :

(Subject to change)

1. Live Burn/Flashover
2. Hose Evolution on Car Fire
3. Medical Emergency
4. Ladder Operations and Forcible Entry
5. Confined Space Search and Rescue Maze

HOW TO REGISTER:

This event is limited to 25 participants and will be granted on a first-come, first-reserved basis. Local officers interested in registering decision makers or guests should contact IAFF Division of Occupational Health, Safety and Medicine at (202) 824-1571 or email laaron@iaff.org and mention Fire Ops 101 to reserve space.

FIRE OPS 101 REGISTRATION IS FREE WITH YOUR REGISTRATION TO THE REDMOND SYMPOSIUM

*Transportation will be provided to and from the Hilton Hawaiian Village and the event site.
Continental breakfast and lunch will be provided on site.*